Boy killed in standoff made threats:

CLEVELAND — A 17-year-old boy shot to death by police after allegedly firing at an officer had threatened to kill his two companions and himself, a newspaper reported Sunday.

"I want ransom," Jason Gammon said in a telephone conversation with suburban Euclid police. "Get me a car and get me money or a helicopter. ... If there's any problems with my friends or me, I'm going to shoot them and I'm going to shoot my [expletive] self."

The Plain Dealer obtained a copy of the tape-recorded telephone conversations the teen-agers had with police on Sept. 3. The tapes released Friday by the Euclid Law Department preserved some of Gammon's last enraged words.

Gammon and two friends holed up for about four hours in a house after allegedly stealing three guns. The standoff ended after police shot and killed Gammon.

In the hours before Gammon's death, he repeatedly threatened to kill himself and his two friends, Brian Lewis, 15, and Bridget Lewis, 14, the newspaper reported. The Lewises are brother and sister.

A warrant had been issued for Brian Lewis in Kirtland, about 30 miles east of Cleveland, for his alleged involvement in several car thefts, police said. Bridget Lewis told a dispatcher that was why the teens ran off after being approached by police.

Police chased the youths until Bridget Lewis saw a house she recognized as the home of a former friend.

The teen runaways were demanding to be allowed to live with other relatives, the newspaper reported.

Russian statue to be erected in Columbus:

COLUMBUS — The mayor of Moscow said he will do everything he can to erect a 311-foot, Russian-made monument to Christopher Columbus in Ohio's capital.

"We are all optimistic and very enthused because of the majesty of the site and the enthusiasm of the people who want to receive this monument," Yuri Luzhkov said through an interpreter after a day-long tour of central Ohio.

"I think we now have a vision of the placement of the statue which is as powerful as the monument itself." He did not identify any location which struck him as the most appropriate.

Russian President Boris Yeltsin sent Luzhkov to view the proposed home for the bronze monument named New World.

The statue cost an estimated $10 million to create, using more than 2,000 pieces cast in various cities throughout Russia.

Originally, the monument was to be erected in Miami Beach, Fla., but there was little interest in raising the estimated $15 million to $25 million to ship the parts and assemble them in a park.

Ohio's debt continues to grow Soviets blamed for long war trial

Voinovich park proposal would further increase $3.9 billion tab

The Associated Press

COLUMBUS — Gov. George Voinovich has encountered little resistance over his proposal to increase Ohio's debt in order to renovate and maintain state parks.

But the state's annual payment of debt is growing. By 1995, the projected yearly debt-payment of $720 million will exceed the cost of operating the state prison system, The Cincinnati Enquirer reported Sunday.

By that year, state government will be paying close to $60 per citizen a year to pay its debt. In 1970, debt service was $4.76 per person. In 1980, it was $17.43 per person.

In higher education, 16 percent of all state subsidies to colleges and universities already is diverted to debt service before any money reaches a campus.

The total debt is slightly more than $3.9 billion. Ohio's annual payment to retire its general-obligation bonds is the second-fastest growing portion of the state budget. Only Medicaid spending has risen at a faster rate in the past 10 years.

Voinovich is asking voters on Nov. 2 to approve Issue 1, an amendment to the Ohio Constitution to authorize the state to borrow $200 million more. To borrow that sum in $50 million increments for each of the next four years, another $16.4 million a year would be drained for debt payments from the state fund that finances education, welfare and most other general state services.

"It is easily affordable within Ohio's existing tax base," Voinovich said.

The existing debt is reduced each year by diverting state sales and income-tax revenues to paying debt. But new debt is incurred periodically.

The Voinovich administration is in the process of drafting a new capital-improvements bill for introduction next year. The most recent such bill totaled about $1 billion, mostly for prisons and new construction on CLEVELAND — The Soviets were responsible for withholding documents which might have cleared John Demjanjuk before 1981 on charges of being a Nazi death-camp guard, a former government Nazi hunter said.

The Plain Dealer said Allan R. Ryan Jr., who headed the Justice Department's Office of Special Investigations from 1980-1983, outlined his complaints about the Soviets in a 179-page transcript submitted to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Ryan told the court in January that the Soviets were responsible for withholding documents which might have cleared Demjanjuk years ago. The transcript was released last week by the court.

Demjanjuk, 73, a retired Cleveland autoworker, had his conviction and death sentence overturned by the Israel Supreme Court. He had been convicted as the sadistic death-camp guard known as "Ivan the Terrible."

Demjanjuk is awaiting a final ruling by the Israeli Supreme Court on whether he may leave Israel or must face a second war-crimes trial.

Ryan, now the general counsel for Harvard University, was questioned Jan. 29 in Boston by U.S. District Judge Thomas A. Wiseman Jr. Wiseman was appointed to look into whether the U.S. government withheld evidence that might have been useful to Demjanjuk's defense.

Ryan said he did not learn until 1991 that Soviet records would have seriously damaged the government's case against Demjanjuk.

Ryan said he asked the Soviet Union in 1980 for any documents it had regarding the Treblinka death camp where "Ivan the Terrible" terrorized Jews.

The paper said Ryan recently sent a memo to the appeals court repeating his claim that he had sought Treblinka records from the Soviets.

They've got your number

Sharing social security information can wreak havoc

by Lisa Gallagher
contributing reporter

Students recite it every day, and the University uses it to access important information about you.

It's your Social Security number, and experts say in the wrong hands it can do more damage than you can imagine.

With those nine digits, criminals can apply for credit cards in your name or get information about your credit history, earnings and tax records. They can falsify tax documents or make false identification cards.

The growing influence of credit-reporting agencies and the Clinton Administration's promise of a computer network offering easy access to government information have rekindled fears about the casual use of social security numbers.

Even the University, which has used the numbers to identify students for over 20 years, will soon switch over to a different system because of privacy concerns.

Social Security numbers were developed in 1935 to record payments given by the U.S. Social Security Administration.

"The basic reason for having Social Security numbers is for the department to have a person's correct earnings so they can be eligible for social-security benefits," said Roger Howell, manager of the Bowling Green branch of the Department of Social Security Administration.

According to the Department of Social Security Administration in Baltimore, the only agencies that can legally require a Social Security number are the Internal Revenue Service, the Social Security Department and banking institutions that need to report earned interest for tax purposes.

The University is allowed to use the numbers because its system of identification was started before the 1974 law that limited their use.

Chris Hibbert, a member of Computer Professionals for Social Responsibility, a California-based privacy watchdog group, said students should not give out their Social Security number to blood banks, video rental stores or businesses that request it to accept a check. The fewer people who have the number, the less risk it will be used to tamper with credit records, Hibbert said.

"Students going into the workforce need to know that if their social security number gets into the wrong hands, it could mess up their record and it will take a while to clean up," Hibbert said.

Dean of Education Ronald Russell has had firsthand experience with the problems Social Security numbers cause. In 1989, someone obtained Russell's number and applied for credit cards throughout the country.

Two people were caught using Russell's number in Texas. He has no idea how they got the number.

Russell realized there was a problem when inaccurate entries began to show up on his credit report. The Treasury Department had to temporarily prohibit credit reporting bureaus from releasing Russell's credit history.

"I have definitely taken more precautions when giving out my social security number now," Russell said. "Students should be just as cautious with their numbers, too. If a student's Social Se-

GSS against lift of smoking ban

by Larissa Hritsko
student government reporter

The Graduate Student Senate voted Friday against a bill which called for a lift of the campus-wide smoking ban passed by the University Board of Trustees in May.

The trustees approved a policy calling for all residence halls and University buildings to be smoke-free beginning fall 1994.

The GSS bill requested that the trustees alter the policy and arrange for some type of living accommodation for smokers who live in the residence halls.

Ted Eaton, the sponsor of the bill, said the University's policy is taking away a student's legal right to smoke in his or her home.

"The bill was brought up because University students were being treated unfairly," Eaton said. "If [GSS] lets this slide it will set a bad precedent."

However, other senators pointed out that although the residence hall is the student's home, it is a part of the University, and the University will then dictate the law.

The senate discussed other solutions to solve the matter including having separate buildings, and allowing the affected residents to work out a policy among themselves.

"One of the solutions to the problem could be to have two separate buildings for smokers and non-smokers, since floors could not stop the flow of the smoke," senator Wendy Ashby said.

GSS voted the bill down because the senators were concerned about the effects of second-hand smoke and because they did not believe it was a graduate student issue.

Senator David Baskind said the issue was not really a GSS problem since it mainly affected freshmen and sophomores who, by University policy, have to live in the residence halls. Only a very small number of graduate students reside on campus and would be affected, he said.

State park plan at our expense

With so much in the news lately about the federal deficit, it's easy to overlook our home state's debt, and what's being done to reduce or increase it. In spite of a $3.9 rapidly-increasing state deficit, Gov. George Voinovich is planning to renovate and maintain state parks. However, the money will not come from existing funds. Instead of finding funds that already exist he has decided to increase Ohio's debt, and he does not seem to be receiving any opposition to this plan.

In fact, Voinovich is also asking voters to approve Issue 1 in November. It is an amendment to the Ohio Constitution authorizing the state to borrow $200 million more. And Issue 1 has the support of the Ohio AFL-CIO, the Ohio Municipal League, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio County Commissioners Association.

Meanwhile, 16 percent of the money allocated to higher education is being used to make payments on the growing mountain of debt.

Why hasn't Voinovich made education a higher priority than recreation and tourism? Our forests and parks are definitely important to the environment, but it surely is not the biggest concern for our state.

With the budget crisis that slashed state-funded universities two years ago, Voinovich should be spending time trying to rebuild the educational system that has been sliding downhill.

Those students who attended the University before the budget crisis became used to computer labs that were accessible 24 hours a day, enough classes to meet the demand and a library that was open when needed. The loss of these former "luxuries" was said to be only a temporary inconvenience. But temporary seems to be turning into permanent. The governor did allocate about $1 billion toward universities (and prisons) -- but only for construction and building renovations. That is not the kind of rebuilding our state universities need most. These institutions need more quality professors to provide the best education, and other employees to ensure that computer labs and libraries are available to students when they need them.

As Voinovich has allotted monies to the state's park and forest fund, our state debt has reached incredible heights. The annual payment of debt continues to grow, and by 1995 the state government will be paying close to $60 per citizen a year to pay its debt. Just 23 years ago the debt service was $4.76 per person.

This debt is not going to decrease if the state continues to use money that does not exist. A simple economics class could teach anyone that. But, then again, those of us who were shut out of our classes may never know.

Disability overshadows person

There is another culture in this world besides ethnic cultures, sexual-orientation cultures and religious cultures that we many times fail to recognize. It is the culture of the hearing impaired -- "deaf culture."

Although the hearing impaired don't have a religion to dominate their culture or specific historical backgrounds marking their culture, they do, as do many cultures, have a common ground consisting of a language and one specific event in their lives they share -- being deaf.

Many people do not understand the hearing impaired. One friend of mine, who is deaf, captures this misunderstanding in one statement, "hearing people meet your disability before they meet you."

Discrimination comes from a lack of understanding. It's true for hearing impaired as much as it is true for African Americans, Latin Americans, homosexuals and others who have faced discrimination.

The hearing impaired compensate in many other ways for their loss. They communicate well with one another using sign language and also communicate well with hearing people using the technique of lip reading.

Sometimes society causes problems for hearing impaired and adjustments should be made, but not always are. For instance, deaf people can't watch a movie at the theater because closed captioning is not offered until the movie hits the stores, and sometimes even then it isn't available.

Weekly Columnist

Most sitcoms on television have closed captioning available, but not all.

Sometimes adjustments have

"A university and university city that do not accommodate all handicaps at all times are not as diverse as they claim to be."

to be made with appliances such as phones, which either need a special device or just simply need the volume turned up. It is a myth that all deaf people can't hear at all. In fact, most can hear to different degrees.

The University does make adjustments for hearing impaired living on-campus. Unfortunately, it's not enough. Flashing smoke alarms are available for hearing impaired to hook up in their dorms, but only go off if the fire is in that room. In Founders, if a fire is in an adjacent bedroom in the same suite the alarm won't go off.

My friend happens to live in Founders and has one of these devices, and already the fire alarm has gone off a few times. His flashing alarm did not. Luckily, these were false alarms, but maybe the next one won't be.

Whenever a building is built anywhere, it has a fire alarm with a flashing device. It is a law for public buildings to make accommodations for the impaired. Just building ramps is not the answer.

Despite the adjustments needed for the hearing impaired, they should never be discriminated against. In fact, it is illegal in Ohio to discriminate against them because of their impairment.

Given the right accommodations there is nothing a deaf person can't accomplish. Even without them they do quite fine. If a person is denied a job because of an impairment, it can be taken to a higher authority. My friend says that he has been discriminated against because of his impairment, even in Bowling Green.

In many ways, hearing and deaf people are very much alike, in others very different.

"Deaf culture" has its own slang within its language. A hearing person would never understand some of the slang without being told first. The hearing impaired don't like to party in the dark, unlike most hearing people. Darkness impairs a deaf person's ability to communicate.

It's sad that we live in a society where we always make the unusual conform to the norm. The hearing impaired learn to read lips to communicate with the hearing instead of the hearing learning to communicate with sign language. Of course, most high schools don't offer sign language, but the University does.

Everyone should take up a course in sign language at some point. It may be a useful tool in the working world when working with hearing-impaired partners or clients. Communicating effectively with the deaf could add that extra push up the career ladder.

A university and university city that does not accommodate all handicaps, at all times, is not as diverse as it claims to be.

—CORRECTIONS—

In Thursday's edition of The News, the article "BGSU volunteers return from Iowa" stated that the trip was sponsored by the St. Thomas More Parish. Although the church organized the trip, it did not sponsor it. The students, who were not all members of the church, paid for food and gas on their own.

In addition, the Red Cross paid for some of the meals. The Red Cross assigned the volunteers to work on three houses as the paper said. However, the volunteers worked on two additional houses as well.

Faculty Senate to discuss day care, bargaining

by Michael Zawacki
faculty reporter

Instituting a University day-care center is one of the primary goals on which the Faculty Senate will focus as it convenes Tuesday for the first time this academic year.

Faculty Senate Chairman Benjamin Muego said he will be organizing a special meeting of constituent groups to strategize on how to pull resources together to move the day-care issue forward.

"[A campus day-care center] will benefit the campus, faculty, staff, classified staff, administrators and students," he said.

The senate will also address gender-based salary inequities this year, Muego said. Dorothy Behling, vice chairwoman of the senate, has been named the chairwoman of an ad hoc committee that will explore gender-based salary inequities.

Some senate members also hope to make changes and clarifications in the mandated 10 percent increase in faculty workloads that will go into effect in fall 1994.

Muego and Ron Stoner, chairman of the BGSU-FA, will be attending a meeting in Columbus later this fall of the American Association of University Professors. The representatives of the affiliated state schools will discuss and craft together a common response to the increase in the amount of hours faculty members have to work.

According to Stoner, the workshop's intention is to come up with a plan of action to counter the increase.

"Independent organizations, such as the AAUP, can help out universities by presenting legal challenges to the state legislature," Stoner said.

Muego said the senate plans to bring the BGSU-Faculty Association, the Advocates for Academic Independence and the University's central administration together with the senate to discuss the issue of collective bargaining at the University.

"I believe it is in the best interest of the University for [collective bargaining] to be discussed during a senate meeting," Muego said.

He added that the meeting must first be discussed by the Senate Executive Committee to create the structure for discussion.

curity number now," Russell said. "Students should be just as cautious with their numbers, too. If a student's Social Security number is being used to gain information on campus, they need to be very wise in who sees it."

Departments on campus including the financial aid office, the bursar, the Student Recreation Center and the Star System all use Social Security numbers to access student records.

But the University realizes the problems these numbers cause, according to Ron Lancaster, a computer science professor who has led efforts to change the identification system.

The University has developed a new system using "BGSU ID Numbers" that will take the place of Social Security numbers by the end of the 1993-94 academic year. The numbers begin with the letter "p" and appear on freshmen's ID cards. They are also printed on the validation stickers given to all students.

"By the end of the school year, nothing will be accessed through social security numbers," said Lancaster. "Even the Bursar and financial aid offices will switch over by the end of the year."

According to Lancaster, the University will only require students to give their Social Security numbers on financial aid forms because of the tax requirements.

Lancaster said the new system should save the University administration some headaches because the ID numbers contain a "check digit" that alerts a computer if the number is typed in wrong. Social Security numbers do not have check digits.

Most of the $200 million that Voinovich and the leaders of the General Assembly want to borrow is to be earmarked for maintenance and improvements within Ohio's 72 state parks.

"I believe the state parks are one of Ohio's most precious assets," Voinovich said. "The fact is, we are not keeping them in the best possible condition. This will protect the investment we've already made."

roundup

Central Michigan 38, Ohio University 0

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) - Brian Pruitt carried the ball 27 times for 124 yards and two touchdowns Saturday in Central Michigan's 38-0 shutout of Ohio in the Mid-American Conference.

Chippewa quarterback Joe Youngblood completed 13 of 27 passes for 187 yards, including touchdown passes of six and five yards, and no interceptions.

Ohio (0-2 overall, 0-1 MAC), which hasn't beaten Central Michigan (1-1, 1-1) since 1980, was beaten on the ground - 336 yards to 177 - and in the air, 196-53.

Pruitt's 6-yard run with 12:12 remaining in the first quarter opened the Chippewa scoring blitz, capping a 12-play, 80-yard drive.

Andy Korytkowski's 6-yard reception from Youngblood put Central ahead 14-7 seven minutes later.

In the second quarter, Chuck Salinger made a 27-yard field goal and Youngblood tossed a 5-yard TD pass to Tim Thomas. At the 10:41 mark in the third, Pruitt scored again from 4 yards out.

Erik Timpf's touchdown dash from 4 yards out capped Central's scoring and improved the Chippewas' overall record against the Bobcats to 16-2-2.

Akron 42, Kent 7

AKRON (AP) - Marcel Weems threw for 244 yards and two touchdowns as Akron beat Kent 42-7 in a Mid-American Conference game Saturday night in the Rubber Bowl.

Weems threw touchdown passes of 28 yards to Kenny Chapman in the second quarter and 8 yards to Chapman in the third.

Weems completed 10 of 19 passes with two interceptions. He also carried the ball 10 times for 33 yards, the best among Akron's 11 ball carriers, and ran for a 2-point conversion.

Petu Ieli scored on 1-yard runs in the second and third quarters for Akron, (2-0 overall, 2-0 in the conference).

Jermel Wilkerson scored for the Zips on a 4-yard run in the third quarter and Matt Kaulig scored on a 1-yard run in the fourth.

Kent (0-2 overall, 0-1 in the conference) was led by Mike Acie, who scored on an 8-yard run with 24 seconds left in the game.

Miami, Ohio 29, Southwestern Louisiana 28

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) - Junior flanker Jeremy Patterson caught a career-high three touchdown passes, including the game-winner with 1:43 left in the game, as Miami of Ohio won its opener Saturday over Southwestern Louisiana, 29-28.

Neil Dougherty threw for 271 yards, including the scoring passes of 12, 66 and 44 yards to Patterson. The final two touchdown passes to Patterson came in the fourth quarter, when Miami outscored the Ragin' Cajuns 19-0 to wipe out a 28-10 deficit.

Patterson's previous career high was two TD passes in a game, in a 27-14 Miami win at Southwestern Louisiana two years ago. The converted tight end was Dougherty's favorite target last year, with 31 catches for 370 yards and three TDs.

Southwestern Louisiana (0-2) led 21-3 at halftime on Aaron Fisher's four-yard run, Marcus Prier's 35-yard run and Jake Delhomme's three-yard pass to Buck Moncla. Miami's only response was Chad Seitz's 25-yard field goal.

The Ragin' Cajuns expanded the lead to 28-3 on Ray Weathers' two-yard run in the third quarter before Patterson's first TD catch started the Miami comeback.

Deland McCullough scored on a 16-yard run for Miami before Patterson's game-winning catch. The Redskins failed on their two-point pass conversion attempts after both touchdowns.

Miami, known as the "Cradle of Coaches" for its alumni who have gone on to become some of football's most famous coaches, honored three noteworthy alumni before the game. They were the late Paul Brown, founder of the NFL's Cleveland Browns and Cincinnati Bengals; Mel Knowlton, who had a career 150-85-8 record as coach at Ohio's Alliance High School, and former Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian.

Purdue 28, Western Michigan 13

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) - Purdue thought it had wiped out the memory of last year's loss to Mid-American Conference foe Toledo with an awesome first half against Western Michigan on Saturday.

Then the nightmare was nearly replayed.

Purdue (1-1) rolled to a 28-3 lead and 409 yards in the first half, then held off the young Broncos (0-2) despite a dismal second-half performance in a 28-13 win.

Western Michigan, another MAC team, held the Boilermakers to 75 second-half yards while piling up 240 of its own. Purdue needed two key fourth-quarter turnovers to preserve the victory.

"It almost happened too easy," an irritated Purdue coach Jim Colletto said of the first-half explosion. "They say, 'Oh yeah, we'll just go out there and play again.' And it doesn't work like that."

Fullback Mike Alstott, a sophomore, led a punishing Purdue running attack in the first half, carrying nine times for 90 yards. He finished with 12 carriers for 100 yards. The Boilermakers scored on their first three possessions and ran for 211 yards in the first two quarters. Three other possessions ended in a missed field goal, a fumble and a dropped touchdown pass.

Alstott said last season's 33-29 loss to Toledo in the second game was Purdue's prime motivator.

"Like coach said, we're never going to lose to a Mid-American team again," Alstott said. "We came out so fired up, and that was probably one of the big reasons. We came out making all the yards and scoring all the points, and we thought we had it in the bag."

But backup quarterback Jay McDonagh quickly got Western Michigan back in the game.

He completed all five of his passes on the Broncos' first drive, which Jim Vackaro capped with a 1-yard dive on fourth down. McDonagh was 3 of 4 on Western Michigan's next possession, which ended with Kevin Knope's 35-yard field goal to make it 28-13 with 1:46 left in the third quarter.

The Broncos mounted another long drive on their next possession, but Vackaro fumbled at the Purdue 5 with 8:22 to play. Another Western Michigan drive ended when Jimmy Young intercepted a McDonagh pass in the end zone.

McDonagh completed 20 of 28 passes for 193 yards, all in the second half. Starter Andrew Schorffhaar completed 17 of 28 passes for 160 yards in the first half. The 37 total completions was a Western Michigan record, topping the 32 completions Tony Kimbrough had against Miami of Ohio in 1988.

Ball State 45, Illinois State 30

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) - Mike Neu passed for three touchdowns and Tony Nibbs ran for two more as Ball State built an early lead and held off Illinois State for a 45-30 victory Saturday.

Cross country teams split openers

Freshman Renee Strayer (92) and teammate Kristin Gaddis (86) battle their way up Bill's Hill during the Falcons meet on Friday.

Freshman Hall leads way for women; finishes third

by Eric Bishoff
sports writer

The women's cross country team kicked off its season at home with a pair of dual meets Friday. First up for the Falcons was defending Mid-American Conference champion Ohio University.

In a close race, the Bobcats narrowly edged the Falcons 24-31. Bowling Green shut out Marshall's Thundering Herd 15-48.

The Falcons finished with five of the top 10 times in the meet. Freshman Laura Hall led the way for BG, finishing third overall, with a time of 18:27.

Hall's time was just five seconds behind first-place finisher, senior Chris Parks of Ohio University.

Hall said she had no idea who she was up against in Parks and Bobcat teammate Jill Kern, who finished second.

"It felt great to finish third in my first college race," Hall said. "I just went out to do my best against OU."

Just behind Hall was sophomore Tracy Losi (18:49) who finished in fourth place overall.

Rounding out the top five for Bowling Green were sophomore Suzanne Isco (19:24-6th), freshman Renee Strayer (19:44-8th) and sophomore Kristin Gaddis (19:51-10th).

Losi started strong and was in the lead at the mile-and-a-half marker until Hall passed her up.

"I went a little strong at first and was leading going into the hill," Losi said. "That was when Laura and the two OU runners passed me up." "Tracy seemed to go too strong in the beginning," coach Steve Price said. "It made things hard for her to catch up in the end."

"I was very pleased with the performance of the team," Price said. "I believe that we can beat the Bobcats next time we meet."

With the temperature dropping to 65 degrees and the wind at a brisk 20 to 25 mph, the race became more of a challenge for all three teams.

"The weather was an advantage for us because OU is further south and is used to warmer weather," Price said.

In the next two meets, the Falcons will face MAC opponents Kent State and Miami.

Bowling Green will get its chance for a rematch with Ohio University on Oct. 8 when the team travels to Delaware, Ohio, for the All-Ohio Meet.

Men CC squad splits two

by Paul Markoff
sports writer

The Bowling Green men's cross country team split a dual meet with Ohio University and Marshall University on a cool, windy Friday afternoon.

Ohio narrowly defeated BG by a score of 23-30, while the Falcons had no trouble taking care of Marshall's Thundering Herd, shutting them out by a score of 15-49.

Josh McClintock of Ohio paced the men with a time of 25 minutes and 54 seconds. Falcon harrier, Eddie Nicholson, was seven seconds off that pace, finishing second with a time of 26:01.

Derric Kenne (26:39) and Tim Arndt (26:41) of Bowling Green finished fifth and sixth respectively.

Although the men were able to defeat Marshall, BG coach Sid Sink was a little disappointed they couldn't give OU more competition.

"I'm not happy with the results," Sink said. "We're not ready. I feel it's due to some injuries and sicknesses in the off-season."

Despite the somewhat disheartening results, Sink feels the squad had good chemistry and teamwork.

"We did run well as a team today," Sink said. "I can see us pulling together as a whole."

With 13:12 left in the game, the Falcons offense drove the final nail into the Bearcat coffin when Henry hooked up with Martin for another touchdown pass. Martin hauled in 5 catches for 76 yards and two touchdowns for the day, complementing Jackson's strong ground performance.

On the season, 12 of Henry's 32 completions have gone to Martin. "I think it would be best if we could spread it around more evenly," Henry said. "But if Rameir keeps catching them, we'll keep throwing them to him."

While the offense was having no problems moving the ball, BG's defense was looking just as impressive in shutting down Cincinnati's high-powered scoring attack.

Led by junior linebacker Vince Palko's 11 tackles and two sacks, BG's defense put the shackles on Cincinnati's running back duo of Craedel Kimbrough and Darrel Harding.

Kimbrough and Harding, who combined to rush for 182 yards against Austin Peay, were held to just 40 by the Falcons.

"The defense had fun today, we were clicking on all cylinders," Palko said. "We came up with the big plays on third down and that was one of our goals."

After the game, BG head coach Gary Blackney was very pleased with his team's performance, and very optimistic about the future.

"This team is still trying to find its own personality," Blackney said. "I think this team has the capability of being the best team that we've had here over the last two and a half years."

Volleyball team wins two of three on road

by Jamie Schwaberow
sports writer

The BG volleyball team had a full schedule this weekend as it traveled to West Virginia to face some tough competition from around the nation.

The Falcons arrived in West Virginia Friday night to take on the tournament's hosts, the Mountaineers. Going into the weekend, the Falcons were hoping to win at least two out of three matches. They started off on the right track with a 12-15, 15-9, 15-13, 15-11 victory over the WVU.

"We started off slow," BG coach Denise Van De Walle said. "We took the long bus ride there, and then after we got ready we still had to wait an hour extra, because of the game ahead of us."

The team finally started its match about 9:00 p.m., and its play was at first uninspired. The Falcons were not flat for long, though, as they bounced back to win the final three games. Carlyn Esslinger had a tremendous match, recording 20 kills with only three errors in 34 attempts for a .500 percentage.

Jessica Andrasko also played a superb match, having a balanced attack with 11 kills, 23 digs, five service aces, three blocks, and three errors for a .308 percentage.

Saturday morning, the Falcons competed against a formidable Northern Arizona opponent led by their ace Terina Keaton. Keaton and her teammates were too much for the Falcons as BG fell 10-15, 15-12, 14-16, 5-15.

In the match, Keaton hit 13 kills, nine blocks, and two errors for a .423 percentage.

Van De Walle felt her team let a win slip away.

Van De Walle felt her team let a win slip away.

"If we could have won that tough third game, I think we would have had a great chance to win," she said. "We just had trouble putting the ball away."

BG's final opponent of the tourney was William & Mary, who had beaten both West Virginia and Northern Arizona.

In a great back-and-forth match, BG came out victorious with a 15-10, 11-15, 11-15, 15-8, 15-10 win.

The key players in this game were once again Esslinger and Andrasko. Esslinger had 16 kills, five blocks, and four errors for a .279 percentage and Andrasko had 20 kills and five errors for a .306 percentage.

Lori Hilton also handed in a good contribution with six kills, four blocks, and one error in 11 attempts for a .454 percentage. "In the fifth game we were very aggressive while scoring, which is very important," Van De Walle said. "This was a really good way to end the tournament, and I think we should be prepared now for the MAC competition."

FIERY FALCONS SINGE CINCY

Jackson explodes for 127 yards;
Martin hauls in two touchdowns

by Mike Kazimore
sports writer

The Falcon football team opened up its offensive arsenal Saturday, but in the end it was good, old-fashioned, hard-nosed football that led them to victory.

B G, in racking up 193 rushing yards on 54 attempts, controlled the game from the onset as the Falcons bullied their way to an easy 21-7 win over the Bearcats from Cincinnati.

The victory extended BG's home winning streak to 11 games. "We got beat by a better football team," UC head coach Tim Murphy said. "When Bowling Green had to run the ball they had their way. We thought that it would come down to a battle of the trenches, and we didn't win that battle."

Most of the damage was done by senior tailback Zeb Jackson. Jackson, who was held to just 37 yards rushing in last week's defeat, rambled through the Bearcat defense in racking up 127 yards on 29 carries.

"This week we set a challenge for ourselves, to the offense, to work harder and limit the number of mistakes we made last week," Jackson said.

One of the areas that the Falcons offense worked on last week was being more aggressive with the pigskin. This was evident from the beginning as Falcon quarterback Ryan Henry went for a 45-yard bomb on BG's first play from scrimmage.

Although Henry's pass wasn't caught, it loosened up the Bearcat defense making it easier for the Falcons to get their ground game started.

After the incompleteness, behind the running of Jackson, BG methodically moved the ball to the Cincinnati 22 yard-line. But the Bearcat defense held tough and got out of the jam unscathed when Brian Leaver bonked a 39-yard field goal attempt off of the left upright.

Even though BG came up empty on the drive, the Falcon offense felt confident they would be able to move the ball against the Bearcats.

On their third offensive series of the game, the Falcon's offense hit paydirt when Henry hit a wide-open Ramier Martin with an 11-yard touchdown strike, putting the Falcons up 7-0.

"It was just a great call by the offensive coordinator, and Ryan put the ball right in my stomach so I had to catch it," Martin said.

On its next possession, BG's offense started right where they left off, as the Falcons mounted another long, time-consuming drive. Once again the Bearcats defense -- using the old philosophy of bend but don't break -- prevented the Falcons from scoring.

On third-and-13, Henry tried to hit his favorite target Martin, number eight. Henry did complete the pass to number eight, but unfortunately for the Falcons it was to the wrong team as Cincinnati's Michael Davis came up with the drivengle (49) and cornerback Michael Davis (8).

stopping interception.

Henry shook off the errant pass and lead the Falcons to its second score of the game on their ensuing possession.

A poor punt gave the Falcons great field position on their own 46 yard line, Henry and the offense needed only ten plays to put the ball in the end-zone. On the drive, the Falcons offense mixed the run and pass to perfection keeping the Bearcats defense on their heels.

The drive ended when Henry kept the ball on the option play and found just enough daylight to sneak in for the touchdown, putting BG up 14-0.

In the third quarter, things could have turned disastrous for Henry. Due to poor special teams play, the Falcons found themselves deep in their own territory on consecutive possessions. Each time, however, the offense was able to dig themselves out of the hole by gaining valuable yards before having to punt the ball away.

See FIERY, page seven.

FALCON GAME NOTES

NO HOME-FIELD BOUNCE

Falcon placekicker Brian Leaver was robbed of three points on the Falcons' first offensive drive. BG took the ball 78 yards after the opening kickoff, then set up Leaver with a 39-yard field goal attempt. His kick had plenty of distance, but hit the left upright and fell short.

RONNIE'S REDDY

BG wideout Ronnie Redd had two catches for 22 yards to extend his consecutive-game reception streak to 25 games. Redd, who now has 56 career catches, did not have a career day as a punt returner.

After UC's opening drive of the second half was stopped, Redd fair caught a Jeff Blaylock punt on the Falcon eight yard line, rather than let it bounce into the endzone for a touchback.

Following the Bearcats' next failed drive, Redd once again stood at his own 10-yard line.

This time he decided to avoid the low line drive punt, and it rolled dead at the three.

SPEAKING OF STREAKS

The Falcons seem to be simply invincible at Perry Stadium. Over the last 11 seasons, BG is 43-9-3 at home. Head coach Gary Blackney has no idea what it's like to lose here, as Saturday's victory gave him an 11-0 career home record. And when the Falcons play their first game of the season in the Stadium, they are 7-0-1 over the last ten years.

HE'S NO LEROY

Tailback Zeb Jackson had a terrific game, rushing for 127 yards on 29 carries. His only mishap, in fact, was a failed pass attempt on the Falcons' initial drive. With the team on the UC 47 yard line, Jackson got a handoff and rolled out to his right to pass.

Looking for Redd, Jackson lobbed a floater toward the sideline that had more hang time than any of the game's punts.

After the contest Jackson asked the media to remove his attempt from the record book.

"You can delete that one out," he said. "I'll let Henry have that pass attempt."

Head coach Gary Blackney, who designed the play, shouldered the blame.

"Evidently I wasn't able to get you to throw the pass that well," he said, grinning across the room at Jackson. "I think we'll bring Leroy back."

Blackney was referring to Leroy Smith, a tailback for BG from 1988-92. Smith was 2-for-2 in his career passing, including a touchdown strike in last year's Las Vegas Bowl.

The coach, however, removed any speculation that Ryan Henry's job was in jeopardy.

"(Jackson) won't be taking any snaps this week."

CATS OUT OF ACTION

Cincy's offensive statistics weren't the only casualties of the stoic Bowling Green defense. Two Bearcat starters, punter Scott Fisher and tailback Darrell Harding, were knocked out of action on separate plays.

Fisher sprained his ankle when two BG special teamers ran into him following a punt. His replacement, Jeff Blaylock, performed better than Fisher, getting a 34 yard average on six punts. Fisher had averaged only 28 yards in his first two attempts.

Harding injured his shoulder, and was removed from the game for good in the third quarter. UC coach Tim Murphy, who replaced Harding with David Small, expects his starter to miss next week's contest against Miami.

Jackson returns to BG in big way

by Mark Leonard DeChant
assistant sports editor

Zeb Jackson was kidnapped last week, but was returned to the football team just in time to lead the Falcons to a 21-7 win over Cincinnati Saturday.

See, a Jackson impersonator traveled with the team to Virginia Tech for BG's season opener, and the tailback was simply stuffed by the Hokie defense.

That Zeb Jackson carried the ball 14 times for just 37 yards, averaging a measly 2.6 yards per carry. He didn't spot many holes, and when he did, they closed quickly. The team had a lousy day overall on the ground, collecting 45 yards on 23 attempts.

Saturday Jackson and company faced new jerseys -- those of the Bearcats -- and faced a renewed opportunity to establish the running game.

The Falcons came through.

With a fired-up offensive line leading the way, Bowling Green exploded for 207 yards rushing -- 127 of them coming from the 5-11, 175-pound Jackson.

It was the first time BG rushed for over 200 yards since it gained 269 against Miami last Halloween.

The old Jackson is back, and his play Saturday was downright spooky.

"(Jackson) really did an excellent job for us today," BG head coach Gary Blackney said. "We were able to get the running game going early which I think opened up the passing game a bit."

Jackson rushed the ball four times in the Falcons' opening drive and claimed a key first down with a 15-yard outside scamper.

He was the go-to guy throughout the game, as seven of his 29 carries earned first downs. Jackson thanked his offensive line for its play, and said the offense as a whole played smarter football than it had in last week's 33-16 loss to Virginia Tech.

"I think this week we set a challenge for ourselves on offense to work harder and to put a limit on some of the mistakes that we made last week," Jackson said.

Quarterback Ryan Henry echoed his backfield mate's thoughts.

"We really eliminated mistakes this week," he said. "I think we all played well."

The rest of the Falcon squad rushed 25 times for 66 yards, led by Dwaylon Alexander's 37 on 10 attempts.

Jackson's outburst strangled the Bearcat defensive philosophy, which had hoped to shut down the ground game and shorten the field.

"They won the battle in the trenches," said UC head coach Tim Murphy. "They ran where they wanted to whenever they wanted to."

"We were able to mix things up with the passing game," Jackson said. "And mix in a couple of runs in there as well. That helps to open the running game up."

Despite the poor showing against Tech, Jackson is now averaging 82 yards per contest, and could boost that figure to near 100 with a strong game against Navy.

If he's not kidnapped again, that is.
